Consult Your Banker Before You Invest

"Consult with reliable bankers and substantial business men before placing your dividend earnings in the hands of salesmen unless you know beyond question that the broker or agent represents a substantial house and offers securities of staple character," is the message which Commissioner of Corporations Edwin M. Daugherty today conveyed to the investors of California as a part of a state-wide campaign to halt the activities of questionable promoters and high-pressure stock salesmen.

Large sums of money are available for investment during what is known as the reinvestment period about the first of the year when dividends are received from savings banks accounts, when interest is due on mortgages, bond coupons, and dividends are paid on stock and wage bonuses, and also the receipt of returns from crops, etc.

From the past record of the State Corporation Department the period from December 15 to the middle of February furnishes an opportune time for the questionable promoters and high-pressure stock salesmen to press their activities.

With this in mind and the experience of former years in the department, a conference was held today between Attorney General U. S. Webb and Commissioner Daugherty in San Francisco, when arrangements were completed to make a drive for the purpose of preventing California investors from becoming victims of high-pressure stock salesmen.

Substantial industrial enterprises, public utilities and municipal financing of a legitimate character, as well as the general prosperity of this state, suffer from the activities of the unscrupulous and venal brokers and salesmen. All of the money derived from the earnings of the huge sum of money which is available for reinvestment by the citizens of the state, the portion which is diverted into the hands of the questionable promoters, is lost to industry, and therefore is not available to the support of legitimate enterprises and as a consequence the obtaining of funds for the further development of the state is made more difficult.

Premature Springing of Trap Is Believed to Have Permitted Escape

One Man and Woman Are the Only Ones That Are Captured by French

(By Universal Service)

PARIS, Dec. 8.—The premature springing of the French spy trap which was caused by the Versailles police arresting Lionel Wiet for illegally wearing a naval officer's uniform permitted the escape of at least a dozen members of a British spy band according to well informed circles tonight.

If as diplomatic circles believe Wiet was actually a stool pigeon sent to Versailles by the secret service to shadow "Mademoiselle Fox-Trot" known as Martha Moreau, who was unknown to them, the arrest of Wiet by the local police was a costly piece of bungling. At any rate Wiet's arrest tipped off the necessity of fleeing and consequently prematurely released the trigger of the spy trap which closed down on only three Englishmen and "Mademoiselle".

It is reported tonight that a number of young Englishmen well known in the night life and in the night life and in the bars of Paris has disappeared. Other arrests are now improbable as all suspects are believed to have safely crossed the border.

HUNGER GIVEN AS REASON FOR SPYING BY GIRL

(By Universal Service)

PARIS, Dec. 8.—All France today is aroused over the case of lovely Marcel Moreau, the artist's model from the Quartier Latin, who is charged with spying on France's aviation secrets for Great Britain.

"Mai Oui, I know what you will do to me—but is it not better to spy and eat than to starve as a model for poor artists?"

This is said to have been her answer today when the Paris police asked her:

"Why did you seek to divulge our military secrets to another power?"

CLARK HEADS ALPHA LODGE

E. C. Clark was elected worshipful master of the Alpha lodge No. 431, Free and Accepted Masons last night at the election held in the Masonic hall.

Other officers who will support Clark during 1926 are: W. P. Self, senior warden; W. J. Smiley, junior warden; Hutt Brown, secretary and W. A. Poage, treasurer.

Installation of these officers is planned for the next meeting on December 15.

DRIVER RUNS WILD CRASHING INTO GROCERY

Henry Zares, 1483 Sixty-sixth avenue, Oakland, is in the city jail, facing a serious charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated, as a result of a wild drive on San Pablo avenue last night. His brother-in-law, Andrew Anderson, also of Oakland, is in jail charged with being intoxicated.

The warrant for the arrest of Zares was sworn to by Washington B. Vanderlip, 2000 Vallejo street, San Francisco, who bore the brunt of the automobile crash that terminated the ride, according to the police department.

Vanderlip was driving his Essex coach, north of San Pablo avenue, near McBryde avenue, when a Nash car driven by Zares approached him at a terrific rate of speed on the left hand side of the highway, police stated.

Not being satisfied with forcing the Essex entirely off the highway and into the ditch, the Zares machine followed its "attack" by crashing Vanderlip's car in the ditch, Vanderlip reported. Then drove widely up San Pablo to McBryde, which is now under repairs.

Zares turned the corner, but evidently saw some red danger lights so he turned to the left and plowed through the side of the East Richmond Grocery store, owned by the A. Shubert company.

When officers arrived on the scene they said they found both occupants of the Nash somewhat "under the weather." They were taken to the city jail and will be heard by Police Judge C. A. Odell today.

All connected with the accident miraculously escaped without a scratch, but both machines are almost total wrecks.

Confession May Bring About a Bigamy Charge

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 8.—Her own confession to former prosecutor Stanislaus Riley here, in connection with the Howard street gang trial, is expected to lead to bigamy charges being placed against the former Jessie Montgomery, central figure in the gangster case, it was revealed today.

The woman is now Mrs. W. E. Miller, of Spokane, Washington, but a prisoner in San Quentin prison, Arthur W. Mathias, asserted today it was only five months ago he was served with a copy of the divorce papers filed by his wife, the one-time Jessie Montgomery. She said in her "confession letter" that she was married to Miller three years ago.

The case opened when a letter was received from "Mrs. W. E. Miller" by Riley a few days ago. In it she admitted that some of the statements she had made on the witness stand and which sent four men to prison, were perjury. Mrs. Miller later denied that she sent the letter to assist the men in prison for the alleged attack in the Howard street shack, but that she sent it to clear her own reputation.

Former Policeman Receives Parole

Captain Bentley Seeks $1,500,000, Claiming He Invented Tank British Army Used in World War

The case of Captain Bede Bentley, English inventor, is being followed with great interest in the British courts. He has made a claim for 300,000 pounds from the British government on the ground that he was the inventor of the tank which the British army developed in the World War. Captain Bentley, it is alleged, laid his plans before Lord Kitchener which were approved.

Points Touched In President's Annual Address

(By Universal Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—Striking statements in President Coolidge's message to Congress today:

The age of perfection is in the somewhat distant future, but it is more in danger of being retarded by mistaken government activity than it is from lack of legislation. The power over the purse is the power over liberty.

Wars do not spring into existence, they raise from small incidents and trifling irritations which can be adjusted by an international court.

We ought to have no prejudice against an alien because he is an alien. The standard which we apply to our inhabitants is that of manhood, not place of birth.

While our country numbers among its best citizens many of those of foreign birth, yet those who enter in violation of our laws by that act thereby place themselves in a class of undesirable.

Bigotry is only another name for slavery.

If the people are to be dominated by selfishness, seeking immediate riches by nonproductive speculation and by wasteful quarreling over the returns from industry, they will be confronted by the inevitable results of depression and privation.

(By Universal Service)

PASADENA, Dec. 8.—Ernest G. Swift of Detroit, coming to the Maryland hotel for the winter, says the father of Detroit's first citizen, worried about the future of the now first citizen.

"The old man said, 'I'm worried about Hank; I'm afraid he'll lose his job with the Edison company, he puts so much time tinkering with that fool machine out in his back yard.'"

And Hank lost his job and took up the manufacture of Ford automobiles.

Whitbeck, county librarian, was elected president of the Contra Costa Council of Public Welfare last night with the following officers to support her: Mrs. Bertha Romaine, principal of the Concord high school, vice-president; J. Boyer, County Probation Officer, expressed his appreciation of the fine spirit of co-operation and helpfulness that had been accorded him during the past year, and wished for his successor the same measure of loyalty.

MARTINEZ TO CLAIM ERRORS IN BIG SUIT

MARTINEZ, Dec. 8.—When the city of Martinez defends the suit brought by W. S. Farley, former city engineer, it will claim that errors in surveys, mistakes in establishing grades and tearing up of granite curbs and substituting cheaper concrete curbing, besides the almost total disregard of utilizing the city's natural storm sewer, Alhambra creek, in carrying away flood waters, cost the city more to correct than the amount claimed due by Farley.

Farley, in his suit, claims that $38,000 are due him in engineering fees for work done in that city's paving program. Judge H. V. Alvarado has set the trial for January 17.

Southern Pacific Ordered to Lower Its Ferry Rates

The Southern Pacific Railroad company was ordered yesterday to reduce its auto ferry rates, effective August 5, 1925, and to pay back approximately $500,000 in refunds to passengers who have been charged the old rates since that date. The federal district court rendered a decision to this effect yesterday.

It is estimated that the decision will save Southern Pacific ferry passengers $1,500,000 annually and it has established the following rates, effective immediately:

	Rate	Old	New
Automobiles with trailers	1.90	1.10
Automobile truck weighing 4000 lbs.	1.05	.75
Automobile trucks weighing 4000 lbs. with trailers attached	1.90	1.50
Motorcycles	.25	.20
Motorcycles with side car	.70	.40
Passengers	.08	.05

The decision dissolves the temporary restraining order obtained August 5 against enforcement of the new rates, ordered effective on that day by the state railroad commission. It was handed down by United States District Judge A. F. St. Sure, sitting with United States Circuit Judge William H. Hunt. The two judges said that Circuit Judge William W. Morrow, who is absent from the state, authorized them to say he dissented. In passing their opinion, the (Continued on Page 8)

Armed with a search warrant, a squad of Richmond policemen, headed by Chief Dan Cox, staged a raid on the home of Jose Navarro, 456, C street yesterday afternoon. About two gallons of "jackass" were seized according to the police and Navarro was taken to the city jail where he remains in lieu of $500 bail or $1000 bond. His hearing will take place before Police Judge C. A. Odell this morning.

Many Paid Taxes With Cold Cash

Total receipts in currency collected at the office of County Tax Collector Martin W. Joos, at Martinez on Monday amounted to $181,458.24, according to figures compiled yesterday. This amount is for gold, silver and bills and not for drafts or checks. That represented the payments on the last day of the first installment taxes.

Health In This County Good, Says Health Officer

Good health conditions are generally existent throughout Contra Costa county, according to the monthly report of Dr. C. R. Blake of Richmond, county health officer, submitted to the board of supervisors yesterday. Dr. Blake declared that the general health of the county appears better than he has seen it in many years, at this season. There are no contagious diseases anywhere in the county, except in Richmond, and those are expected to be stamped out shortly. Dr. Blake declared: Dr. Blake expects to have a clean slate to start the new year.

During November Dr. Blake vaccinated 1,904 children at the Richmond Health Center. He traveled 280 miles during the month in performance of his duty.

ATTORNEY IS ACCUSED IN FRESNO CASE

FORMER POLICE ON TRIAL

Former Fresno Chief of Police Is Brought into Case by Testimony

(By Universal Service)

FRESNO, Dec. 8.—Lewis H. Smith, prominent Fresno attorney received a $4,000 fee on alleged representations that he could "fix a Federal indictment in the District Attorney's office without even going into court," according to sensational testimony today in the trial of twelve former Fresno police officers.

Emilio Giometti, star Government witness against the twelve, who are charged with conspiracy to violate the national prohibition law, made the statement concerning Smith.

Giometti also brought into the case for the first time, by inference, the name of a former Fresno chief of police. This man is not indicted and has not been mentioned in the trial.

Giometti today indirectly charged that the former chief arranged to accept bootleggers' bribes. His testimony in this respect, as well as his testimony about Smith, came as a complete surprise to the crowded courtroom of United States Judge E. R. Henning.

A., stationed at the Letterman General hospital at the Presidio, married again in 1913 and is living with his second wife, at 2780 Filbert street, San Francisco.

She says she married the army man when he was a lawyer in Logansport, Ind., in 1899. He disappeared in 1902, she says, joined the army, and she divorced him in 1905. She says Chase married his present wife in Seattle in 1918.

Chase avers the suit was instituted merely to embarrass him.

Federal Prisoners Are Being Housed In County Jail

The use of the Contra Costa county jail to house federal prisoners, convicted of violating the prohibition act, narcotic laws and other offenses has been offered by Sheriff R. R. Veale. Federal prisons are filled to overflowing, and the county jails in many counties are holding their quota of criminals.

There are now seven federal prisoners serving sentences in the county jail of Contra Costa county. Veale announced yesterday. Others are expected to arrive tonight. All told there are 48 persons registered at the "Hotel De Veale."

SHUTTING DOWN ON BOOZE

Home wine and sacramental wine are hit hard by the latest prohibition rulings. And in both cases the public is surprised at what has been going on.

Most citizens have not realized the extent of legitimized home manufacture of wines. There seems to have been hundreds of thousands of permits to make wine for domestic use in lots up to 200 gallons. Some of these permits were issued before the prohibition era, and some since. California alone is said to have had 45,000 of them. Now they are all cancelled, and presumably a flood of intoxicating liquor is abolished.

As for sacramental wines, it is reported that dealers in such goods have agreed to cut down the quantity handled to the extent of 97 per cent, which suggests that the sacramental idea has been carried pretty far.

These are two moves in what is obviously a general effort to tighten up dry enforcement. That is well. It is now or never, as far as prohibition is concerned. If a genuine united effort to enforce the law fails, then there may be a big demand that the restrictions be relaxed, to eliminate subterfuge and hypocrisy.

THE COMFORTABLE KAISER

Our benevolent old friend Kaiser Wilhelm emerges in a new role. He is by way of being one of the richest men in Europe.

The German government has been engaged in business negotiations with him for some time, regarding the disposition of the imperial palace estates seized when Wilhelm, asserting that he would remain faithful to the death of his loyal supporters, hopped aboard a special train and beat it for Holland.

There were 80 castles in the Hohenzollern collection of real estate, with vast lands and forests and large business investments, not to mention the family jewels and other personal possessions. The Hohenzollern family had not been kinging and empering 600 years for nothing. Much of the sequestered property is now returned or paid for. Wilhelm is allowed only six castles, but he may be able to worry along with them. There will be nearly 200,000 acres too, and money payments amounting to more than $7,000,000.

Most people will say that republican Germany has been generous. But it's worth more than that to keep Wilhelm out of Germany and off the throne.

CLEAR THE ETHER

There will be no more licenses issued for the operation of radio-broadcasting stations by the Department of Commerce, except in emergency cases, until Congress has regulated radio.

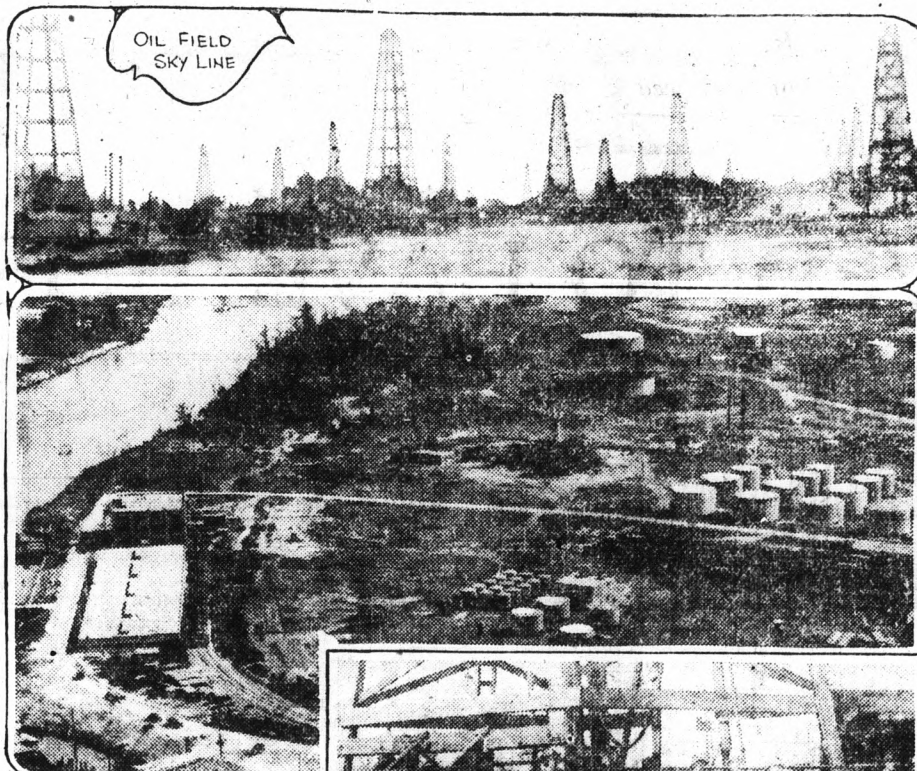

In the cases where the Department has agreed to the installation of new stations and owners have invested a considerable amount of money on this assurance by the Department, these stations will be given official wave lengths.

The action on the part of the Department of Commerce has become absolutely necessary and will no doubt result the lessening of interference, and will give to the listener a better reception.

It is acknowledged by the great majority of radio experts that the time has come when the government must do something in the matter of regulating radio activities.

Maybe in time evolution will produce men too civilized to quarrel about it.—North Adams Herald.

Failures Among Oil Wells Cost $90,000,000 Every Year

SINCLAIR REFINERY AT HOUSTON

CHICAGO—Twenty-three per cent of all wells drilled for oil have been failures, according to a bulletin issued by the American Research Foundation here.

"Drilling oil wells has cost $12,000,000,000 since the beginning of the oil industry," says the bulletin, "and all the oil ever recovered has brought the producers only $7,500,000,000. Eighty per cent of wells drilled in wild-cat territory never struck oil."

"Dry holes for the last few years have resulted in an average loss to operators of $90,000,000 a year. Probably the costliest failure ever drilled was in California where a well that did not strike oil represented an investment of $300,000. One company spent more than $1,000,000 on five failures. "The loss of stock promotion fakery—who took the public's money and never drilled at all—is a loss not figured in these estimates. There is as much danger today as in the past in investing in fly-by-night oil schemes and companies not backed by a personnel of intelligent and skilled oil operators. "Standard Oil, Sinclair, Texas, Royal Dutch Shell, and other great oil companies are constantly prospecting for new oil areas and developing new oil fields throughout the world. Only companies equipped with scientific and thoroughly trained men have more than a fighting chance to win in a business that is becoming more costly every year."

CANNING began as a war measure, back in the time of Napoleon, and gained further impetus from the necessities of the Civil War in this country. But it has developed into a household blessing for the whole human race. Thus, sometimes, is good evolved from calamity.

The great need of preserving food in a healthful, palatable and transportable condition brought about the war measure of offering a reward for the best method of accomplishing this. Experimentation resulted in success, though the method was far more crude than now. Then the advantages of canned foods began to be realized in the home. As the mass of the people began to call for canned foods, the industry grew apace, and time brought a steady improvement of the various processes.

Now, in all the great canneries throughout this country, as well as in other parts of the world where various products are canned, thousands of people find employment, all the year round; in test laboratories, science and invention are working together constantly, in an effort to turn out the very best ready-to-serve products, by the safest and surest processes; and everywhere throughout the world people are being better fed with a greater variety of foods, at all seasons of the year.

The progress of fruits and vegetables, on their journey from tree or vine to the can, is as fascinating as fiction. Crops, watched by field men, are gathered at the psychological moment of maturity and are hurried directly to the cannery. There they are passed through several washing machines, which cleanse them thoroughly; yet, even after that, they pass under the close scrutiny of long lines of white-capped and white-aproned women, standing on each side of a moving canvas belt. Imperfect specimens, or particles which have escaped the washing process, are picked out, so that only the best go into the cans.

The cans are filled by machines, the food covered with water, and the cans hermetically sealed, also by machinery. Then the cans are cooked in huge tanks of boiling water, and a large percentage of the vitamins is thus preserved, because in the hermetically sealed cans no oxidation can possibly take place—and it is that which destroys vitamins.

Preliminary to the actual cooking, the food is thoroughly heated in the cans to drive out air and secure a vacuum when the cans are cooled. Then the cans are sealed and put in steam retorts or open tanks of boiling water, where they are cooked sufficiently to preserve the contents, and at the same time retain the natural flavor and full nutrition. The time of cooking, or processing as canners call it, and the degree of heat applied depends on the contents, and are the results of endless scientific investigation and experimentation, with the end in view that the canned food as furnished the consumer must be most palatable, most satisfying as a food and ready to serve with the least labor. No further cooking is necessary. Heating and seasoning in the kitchen are necessary only to meet the individual tastes of the family.

"Bobbed Hair" A DAZZLING MYSTERY STORY BY TWENTY FAMOUS AUTHORS

Copyright 1924-25, P. P. Collier & Son Co. and G. P. Putnam's Sons "BOBBED HAIR" with Marie Prevost is a dramatization of this story by Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

SYNOPSIS
Rather than announce her engagement, Connemara Moore stole away from Aunt Celimena's Connecticut home last night. Now, in the morning, she finds herself in David Lacy's farmhouse, on Long Island. With her is Sweetie, a mysterious girl whom she met aboard a yacht. The girls are discussing their terrifying adventures when there appears suddenly Aunt Celimena herself, accompanied by her lawyer, Brewster. Their escort is Lacy.

The Swede and his gang had taken prompt warning by the flight of Lacy and Sweetie, and had decamped taking Saltwater Adams along, and leaving no addresses behind them. Lacy and the lawyer carried the burden of tattered silks and shattered nerves that was Aunt Celimena into the house and upstairs to Miss Liddy's room, where they deposited it gently on the bed to the tune of its own grunts and groans delivered in perfect jazz time.

Connemara and her prospective maid, hearing them on the stairs, and not being able to think of anything more original to do in the brief moment of reflection allowed them, plunged back into the wardrobe and sank into the oblivion of mothball-scented darkness.

Miss Liddy took one look at the remnant on the bed, observing in her best unattached manner, "If a woman her age must drink, you'd think she'd have enough sense to have it analyzed first," and left the room. Liddy's whole life consisted principally of leaving rooms. It

When the stuffiness of their cooped-up quarters became unbearable, they opened the door the fraction of an inch and were greatly relieved to see Aunt Celimena sprawled out on the bed writhing in the throes of a delicious battle with pirates and corsairs. The girls decided to risk a hasty but silent flight.

They opened the door and took one step. But a mass of the housekeeper's clothing had dropped to the floor during their imprisonment and entwined itself about their feet. They had no time to notice this trivial, but nevertheless important circumstance.

Fate has a way of creating a joke and then making it seem more laughable by creating another joke right on top of the first.

Connemara was slightly in the lead and as she started the second step in her flight toward the door her feet did not function at all. She tripped over the mass of clothing on the floor. Sweetie who was close behind and going at the same speed, also tripped. Fate did not overlook a thing in arranging this little performance. The bed upon which Aunt Celimena slept lay directly in the path of the two girls. They flopped down—kerplunk—squarely on top of the sleeper just as that estimable lady was being attacked by fifteen thousand buccaners. She was suddenly awake, filled with a justifiable desire to fight for her life.

Sheer numbers finally decided the encounter and Aunt Celimena stood face to face with Connemara. Or, rather, she lay face to face with Connemara.

"My God, Connemara!" she screamed, in a tone of voice that should have awakened the ancient kings of Egypt, and fell back in a dead faint.

Sweetie crouched in the corner, rubbing a sore spot on her arm with three fresh ten-dollar bills.

CHAPTER XVI

By George Barr McCutcheon

Now Bing Carrington had two separate and very distinct objects in going overboard, one quite definite, the other more or less definite. First, he went over the rail into the water because he couldn't very well help himself, which was indefinite, and secondly, he had a lazy idea about securing help for his comrades, an object that became commendably definite with the long, cumbersome polo coat he had donned at the beginning of the chase in order to cover as well as possible the rather startling farquess suit he had worn to the fancy dress party. He succeeded in shedding it, however, abandoning it to the waters of the Sound, a sacrifice made without the slightest compunction because he remembered that it did not belong to him at all but to Salt Adams, who had generously pressed it upon him when they started off in the motor.

"After swimming for some ten or fifteen minutes, swiftly but cautiously, he decided it was safe to make for the shore, which he could distinguish close at hand. Presently he found a footing among the rocks and was soon threading his way among the trees, bound he knew not whither, except that reason told him he was sure to come to a road shortly if he kept on in the direction he was going. He was wet and cold but determined. In due time, as he had suspected, he came to a macadam driveway. A short distance ahead he distinguished the black shadow of a house. For this he dashed without hesitation and mounting the broad steps to a capacious veranda, was soon pressing the door button and rattling the great iron knocker. The house was in complete darkness. After a long wait a light appeared in the hall and the door was opened by a partially clad manservant.

DIFFICULT TO GET THUGS SAYS FILM DIRECTOR

If you believe the newspapers New York is just overrun with thugs, hoodlums and desperadoes. But if you lend your year for a second to Harry Millarde, motion picture director, who produced the screen version of Channing Pollock's melodrama, "The Fool," which comes to the screen of the California Theatre tomorrow only, thug and bandit types are harder to find in the big town than trees.

It seems Millarde needed fifty or a hundred rough types to people a mob scene for "The Fool" during its filming at the New York studio. Always a stickler for the "real thing" in his pictures, the Fox director ordered his scouts out into the hard-boiled purlieus of the city to round up a hundred or so of thugs. Of course, Harry also demanded the strictly movie type—round shouldered, slinking, broken-nosed, cauliflower eared, gun-carrying specimens. "You ought to be back in an hour too with a mob of them—and remember, not more than a hundred," was his parting injunction to the scouts.

But three days later Harry was still short about 50 of his thugs—and incidentally pulling his hair and making life miserable for his assistants. Two days more elapsed without any more success in his hunt and it was then that the director decided that the newspapers must be all wrong or else all the thugs were in jail. He finally resorted to professional "extras" and the makeup box to get his mob of "bad men."

They were rounded up in thirty minutes from a half dozen coffee houses in the Times Square district.

Other features on the same program include "Cold Rush," a comedy laugh riot; "International News"; Larry Canelo, at the organ.

OUT OF THE JAWS OF DEATH

Uncle Sam's Guardians of the Coast Snatch Thousands of Lives and Millions in Property From the Greedy Maw of Ocean.

"3:40 A. M.—British bark Torrisdale, 2,184 tons, stranded during gale. Crew taken off by boat from Grays Harbor Coast Guard Station. Vessel a total loss."

In like laconic phrases Oliver Hazard Perry, when he destroyed the British squadron on Lake Erie, reported his victory—"We have met the enemy and they are ours." Yet what deeds of heroism lay behind the nine word report of the young American commander! And behind that brief report on the rescue of the crew of the Torrisdale by the men of the United States Coast Guard, and behind other reports like it, lie deeds of heroism every whit as great. For the enemy, the sea run amuck, is no less terrible, than the cannon and cutlass of a human foe.

Ocean Yields His Prey

A southwest gale hurls the Pacific crashing against that part of the Washington coast which runs almost due south from Grays Harbor. Over the tempest-driven waters a rocket flares in the darkness. Another, and still another. They are the signals for which the patrol from the Coast Guard Station has been on the alert. They are the signals that tell all who see them that far out in the black witch's cauldron labors a vessel in distress.

The flare while on duty conveys a message of coming rescue to the men on the storm-tossed ship. Then, stumbling through the night over tufts of beach-grass, and around dank pools which his flashlight has disclosed in time to prevent an icy plunge, the patrol runs for the nearest of the "telephones" that dot the coast. Five minutes later the station receives the word that sends the crew tumbling into the surf boat and out through the thundering breakers.

One moment in a deep valley, the next moment high upon the crest of a mountainous wave and about to plunge into the abyss, the surf boat with her intrepid crew of life savers forces her way towards the wreck. Twisted and tossed about like a matchstick by the giant fingers of the storm, three times the boat is swept past the shattered bulk of the Torrisdale. As, for the fourth time, the surf boat approaches the doomed bark, the tiny cockle-shell is hurled against the upturned keel. Oars are smashed, seams are sprung.

But by a miracle the boat remains afloat. A line is passed to the wreck, now fast breaking up beneath the pounding of the waves.

Traffic Cops Are Arranging Code of Ethics

Closer co-operation between the enforcement officers and the motoring public is one of the objects of a constructive program for 1926 being developed for the California Association of Highway Patrolmen, according to Captain Henry Gleeson, in command of the San Francisco traffic bureau, who was elected president of the patrolmen's association at its recent convention at Santa Barbara.

Gleeson has asked officials of the California State Automobile Association to assist him in the development of a "courtesy code" to govern the relations between motorcycle officers and the motoring public. The association pledged its support to this end.

Enforcement for the protection of life and limb, not for revenge, is to be the aim of the traffic officers, according to Captain Gleeson. It will be the purpose of the officers to so perform their duties that they will create greater respect for themselves with the motoring public as safety men rather than simply as enforcement officers. Gleeson said that co-operation between traffic officers and the motoring public would do more than anything else to bring about safe conditions on the streets and highways.

and tamed its fury many times. A line is thrown aboard. The captain's wife, his ten-year-old daughter, a seaman, and last of all the captain himself, are taken off. The Swiftfish is dragged to shoal water and beached.

A Far-Flung Battle Line

So it goes day in and day out, month after month, year after year. The wind and the sea, and the long stretches of lonely shore line are the stage setting. The men of the United States Coast Guard who keep watch and ward along the coast are the actors in the drama. The drama itself is that of the ceaseless struggle between life and death.

The Coast Guard was created in 1915 by combining the former Revenue Cutter Service and the former Life Saving Service. Prior to that time the Life Saving Service had been a separate entity, but as this service was maintained to save life and property along the coast, and as one of the principal functions of the Revenue Cutter Service was to perform similar duties on the high seas, the two services necessarily co-operated with and supplemented each other, and it became apparent that closer co-ordination and great

The Flashlight's S. O. S.

Shift the scene from the Pacific to the Atlantic—to that storm-swept stretch of coast that runs south from the Delaware Capes. Buffeted by the wind, half blinded by the flying spray, a patrol from the Cape Henlopen Station works his way through the night and the howling storm. All his strength is needed to make progress against the force of the gale, yet his eyes are fixed always upon the sea, straining to pierce the darkness and the spray for the all-too-likely signals of a vessel in distress.

Over the white-capped, tortured waters comes the flare that in the language of the sea says always the same thing, "Help us or we perish." There is no telephone near; no time to run to the station. But the patrol has his flashlight. Holding it high above his head, using it as a blinker signal, he flashes the message to the man who is always on watch in the station tower.

With the speed of light the message passes from the patrol to the Henlopen Station. The Lowest Station, too, has seen the vessel's flare, and with scarcely less speed than that of light the words of the life savers of both stations are in the water, lighting their way to the wreck. About the little yacht, the Seventy-six, the sea is a wild welter. But the men of the Coast Guard know the sea. They have braved

Gloria Swanson In "Manhandled" At the Richmond

One of the finest casts that have ever appeared in a Swanson picture supports Gloria Swanson in "Manhandled," her latest Paramount production, directed by Allan Dwan, the man who made "Robin Hood," "Zaza" and "A Society Scandal."

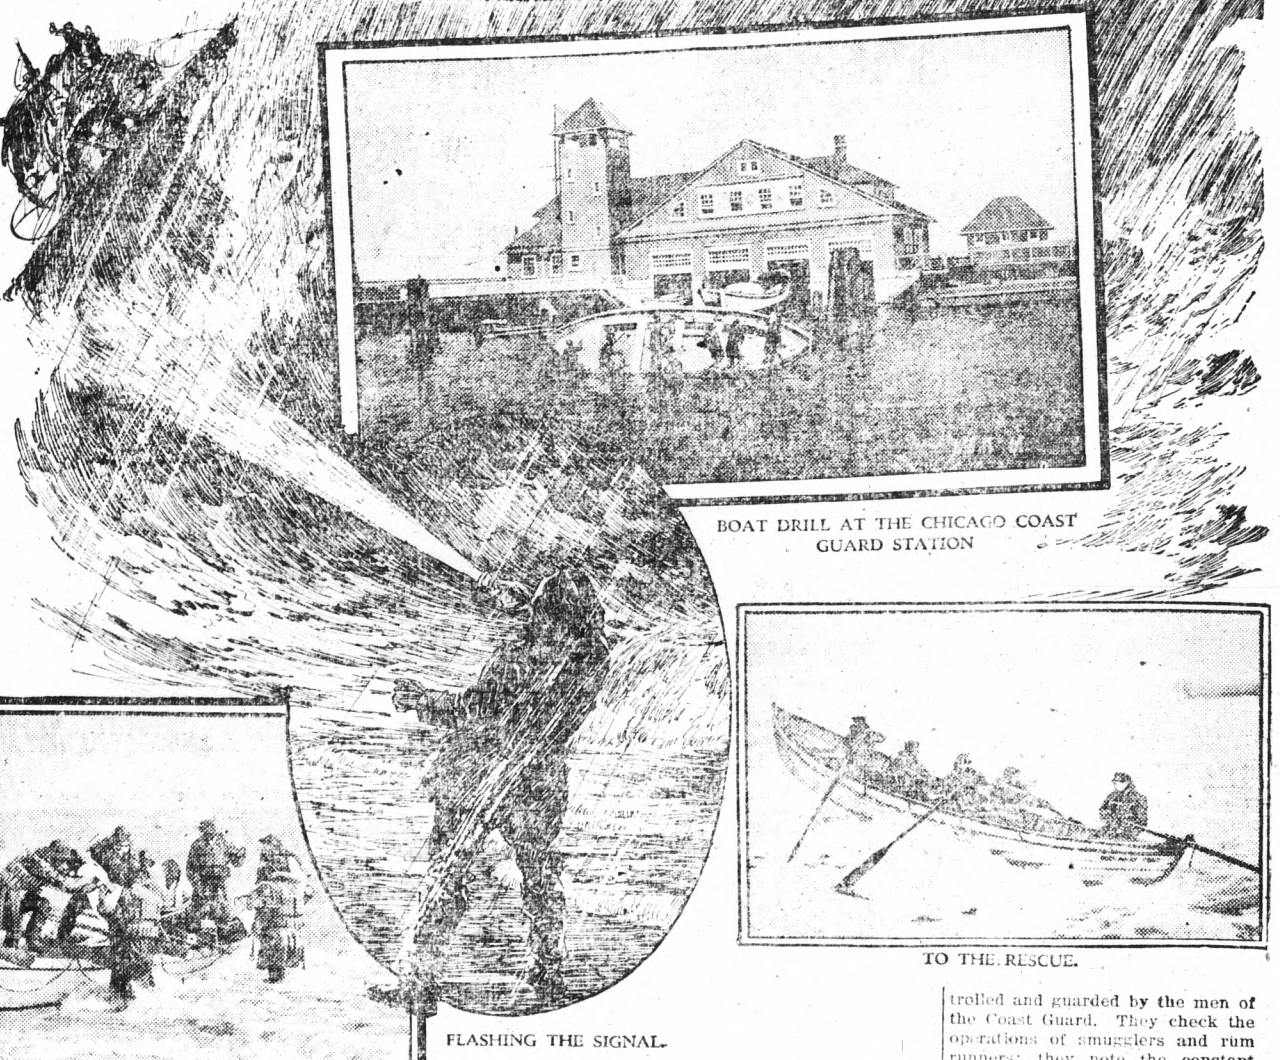

Tom Moore, last seen in "Big Brother" also made by Dwan, has the leading man's role opposite the popular star. Moore has the role of an automobile mechanic, who drives a taxi at night. Then there's Frank Morgan, well known stage actor, and Lillian Tashman, former Ziegfeld Follies beauty, who is one of the salesgirls in the department store where Gloria as Tessie McGuire works. Paul McAllister, who played in "You Can't Fool Your Wife," and other orgs. also has a prominent part as has Ian Keith, well known in New York for his work on the legitimate stage. Others in the cast include Frank Allworth, Carrie Scott, popular vaudeville comedienne, and Arthur Hausman. Then, as the enterprising exhibitor would say, there's a big extra added attraction—Brooke Johns and Ann Pennington doing their stuff before the camera. There's an attraction in itself. And it's not just a flash of the popular Follies entertainers you get either. They have regular parts in the picture in a house party sequence.

"Manhandled," declared by all who have seen it as the best thing Miss Swanson has ever done for the screen, comes to the Richmond theatre today and tomorrow.

Don't miss it! We just know you won't.

Other features on the same program include "Of His Beat" a Walter Hiers comedy; "Prizma" the screen magazine.

BOAT DRILL AT THE CHICAGO COAST GUARD STATION

FLASHING THE SIGNAL

LANDING THE SURVIVORS.

Each Coast Guard Station is in charge of a Boatswain (life-saver) or a Chief Boatswain's Mate (life-saver), and the personnel consists of from seven to fifteen enlisted men, including surfmen. The equipment of a station consists of the beach apparatus—line, projecting guns, hawsers, breeches, buoys, etc.—flag and pyrotechnic signals, heaving sticks and lines, life preservers, life cars, life boats, surf boats, and other boats of various types.

The Coast Patrol.

A fixed boat or patrol is laid out in each direction along the shore line, and the station crew is divided into watches of two men each. During the hours between sunset and sunrise these boats are constantly patrolled by one of the men on watch, while the other maintains a lookout from the station tower. During the daylight hours, except in thick and foggy weather, the patrol is withdrawn, but always a man stands on watch in the tower.

The man on patrol is equipped with a patrol clock, pyrotechnic signals, a signal holder, a revolver in case of a meeting with smugglers or run runners, and a regular hand flashlight with which he can signal vessels in distress or his home station. The whole coast is covered with a network of telephone wires for the use of the Coast Guard, but each man is required to know the international code, and other systems of signalling, used in the Coast Guard, for the emergency when a telephone is beyond reach and he must signal the station tower.

Allies of Progress

When by night the sea lies heavy like a tranquil, sleeping monster, and when, aroused to fury, it shakes the whole coast with its thunderous onslaught—in fair weather and foul—the long coast line of the United States is patrolled and guarded by the men of the Coast Guard. They check the operations of smugglers and rum runners; they note the constant shifts in shoals and shore line made by the encroaching and retreating sea, they warn off from dangerous stretches ships that have lost their bearings; above all they are always ready to risk their own lives to save the lives and property of others.

During the year 1924, 2,462 persons were rescued from peril on the sea, and the value of the vessels assisted, including their cargoes, was $25,316,150. In the never-ending battle between the sea and those who would tame it and make of it a broad highway for the world's commerce, the men of the Coast Guard are the allies of commerce, of progress, and of all the men who go down to the sea in ships.

Motorists Run Afoul of the Law

Charges of violating the motor vehicle laws have been preferred against the following motorists by Traffic Officer G. H. Barquist and they were cited to appear before Justice Roth:

Otto Foscos, illegal lenses; S. C. Sweet, Oakland, cutting in; Geo. J. Turner, Oakland, cutting in; Herbert Smith, San Francisco, cutting in; E. P. Shore, Berkeley, illegal lenses; E. Roddy, Albany, illegal lenses; Harry A. Bosch, El Cerrito, reckless driving; R. Korfut, 141 Thirteenth street, Richmond, speeding.

Shortridge to Favor Universal Draft Regulation

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 8.—Senator Samuel M. Shortridge has notified the California department of the American Legion that he favors the passage of the universal draft law as now being advocated before Congress by the ex-service men, according to a telegram received here by State Adjutant James K. Fisk.

"I favor the passage of a universal draft law as has been sponsored by the American Legion and other patriotic bodies," Senator Shortridge wired. "Should a great emergency arise threatening the republic, all our resources should be summoned to its defense."

Shortridge has also wired Adjutant Fisk that he is in accord with the California Legionnaire's demand that no tinkering be permitted with the immigration law which would "weaken" the Oriental exclusion clauses.

Two Accessory Thefts Reported

Two cases of theft of automobile accessories were reported to the police department early yesterday. Bert O'Leary reported that a door had been removed from his machine while it was parked on Seventh street, between Macdonald and Nevin avenues and C. L. Bergstresser notified the authorities that a thief stole a cushion from his car, which was parked on Eighth street between Macdonald and Bissel avenues.

ALIMONY REDUCED

The amount of alimony paid by Arthur B. Innis, former engineer for the Standard Oil company here, was reduced yesterday by Superior Judge A. B. McKenzie from $100 per month to $30 per month. Through his attorneys, Pierce and Carson, Innis entered a plea that at the time the divorce was granted in 1921 he was earning $100 per month, but is now out of employment.

REALTORS TOLD HOW TO HANDLE THEIR DEALS

In letters addressed to the California Real Estate Association, which represents the organized members of the profession, State Real Estate Commissioner J. R. Gabbert has set forth the following information of interest to all brokers engaged in selling real estate:

(By J. R. Gabbert, Real Estate Commissioner)

New application blanks for licensing real estate brokers have been printed by the State Printing Office. They are on blue paper this year to distinguish them from those of other years. The licenses for the brokers are made more conspicuous this coming year by the use of an attractive gold, while a green seal is used for the salesmen's licenses. This makes a contrast which is readily noticeable to all persons who may be interested. There has been considerable discussion among brokers relative to the fee charged by bonding companies for their broker license bonds which are required with applications the first of the year. It is interesting to note that the 1 per cent charged on such bonds is legal and cannot be successfully disputed until after the first bond of this kind issued on behalf of the state has run for four years. After the expiration of that time it is estimated that the statisticians will begin to receive sufficient data regarding the expenses to maintain this particular kind of bond and will be able, according to the established rules, to fix the proper fee.

I believe the biggest menace in the real estate profession lies in the practice of payment of commissions by brokers or sellers, to people who are not licensed in any way. I have secured information on numerous real estate transactions which were spoiled for the brokers because they refused to jeopardize their licenses by splitting commissions with non-licensed persons.

I feel sure that we will be able to work out a legislative plan for the next legislature which will greatly improve our present Real Estate license act and not only make it a little more difficult for persons not actively engaged in the business to secure license, but to make the act more comprehensive in its control of certain practices which are now being carried on in this state which are not in accord with the ethical standards.

MAKES FAT PEOPLE SLIM!

Many of your friends think that you are too fat. You too realize it. But why, in all common sense, don't you get rid of that extra 10, 20, 30 or more pounds? Feel comfortable and more like a human being again. I am a physician licensed by the State of New York. I have for years treated men and women over burdened with excessive flesh, many have reduced as much as a pound a day. I prescribe for my patients such treatment as will, in my opinion, produce not only the loss of weight without harm, but an improvement in health. Don't take my word for it. Let me send you free my trial treatment and convince yourself. Personal attention is given to each case and you are treated exactly as if you were in my office.

He contends that he was paid the $2000 and nothing more.

ATHLETES WILL GET BLOCKS AT RICHMOND HIGH

Football teams and girls' basketball teams will be rewarded today, after a season of hard work on the gridiron and court, by receiving their block "R's" and certificates showing that they obtained them. Coach Ivan Hill was busy yesterday filling out the certificates, and compiling the lists of those who will be honored.

Twenty-one members of the unlimited football team will get eight inch numerals. They are: Captain Bill Milicevich, Laurence Holland, David Hutchinson, Lowell Dyer, Louis Borstrom, John Dalton, David Owens, Henry Mariola, John Carey, Charles Concanon, Lewis Thompson, Glenn Dixon, Tony Santella, William Fischer and Robert Caldwell.

In the 130 pound aggregation 18 six inch blocks will be given as follows: Howard Arnold, Paul Armstrong, Sam Sakai, Ashton Constine, Everett Engelman, Francis Ziem, Sanford Hanrahan, Howard Nicholson, Kenneth Swenson, Charles Cecil, Tod Ogden, Fred Heeger, Clarence Johnson, James Thornton, Andrew Broberg, Walter Gordon, Howard Jamieson, and Hugh Pearson.

In the girls' basketball squad Lucille Math, Kathleen Smith, Alice Bailey and Margaret Wright receive eight inch "R's" while Margaret Lee, Beatrice Strohmeier, Mazie Samples and Elaine Amend receive six inch blocks for work on the weight team.

Dixon Elected President of Big C Society

Jimmy Dixon, star halfback of the 1925 University of California football squad, was yesterday elected president of the Big C Society for his work during the three years he was a member of the varsity team.

Oswald Hotte, captain of the 1925 California crew, was the president of the society this year.

The action of electing Dixon head of the society casts him out of the storm of which he was the center after the Washington game on November 21. More than 50 prominent members of the alumni and members of the Big C society took an active part in the investigation into the row and announced their findings by making him president of the Big C society.

LANDS THROUGH?

Quite some speculation is rife as to whether or not Judge Landis' contract will be renewed when it expires a year from now. Almost everyone connected with baseball, the public included, is opposed to the czar rule in baseball and all are opposed to the renewal. It does not appear that Landis himself adds popularity to the game.

NEW CHAMPION

BUFFALO, Dec. 8.—Rocky Kansas, lightweight of many years, is now champion of the world in the division. He licked Jimmy Goodrich in a five-round bout here last night for the title. Goodrich took the belt in an elimination contest in which only a few of the best pugilists contested. He had been looking of the New York coming and that seems everything.

BILLIARDS OLD GAME

Billiards is the oldest known game but its origin is unknown. According to Shakespeare, Mark Antony shook a wicked cue. At any rate it is popular. According to figures compiled by companies furnishing equipment more than fifty million persons follow the game, either by watching or participation. The game has thrived in almost every country in the world.

MORGAN SIGNED

PORTLAND, Dec. 8.—Machemaker Waterman for the bouts in the Army here announced today that he has signed Tom Morgan, new junior light weight champion of the world, of Valdejo, to appear in Portland the latter part of January. Clever Sencio will box Benny Pelz in the main event at the Army here Friday night. Sencio is favored to win.

STANFORD MAY PLAY

PALO ALTO, Dec. 8.—There is a very big possibility at present that the University of Stanford may send its football team to Pasadena News Years to participate in the Tournament of Roses. Although the football team has been disbanded and Graduate Masters does not like the idea, a team can be thrown together and be in great shape at that time.

ATTACK HULLS SYSTEM

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—An attack is expected when the football rules committee meets on what in the opinion of many football advocates is a popular system. That is the Huddle system. This phase of the game seems to consume too much time but when the method is clocked it is found that it saves a substantial amount over calling a row of numbers.

ERE TO PLAY

Charlie Erb, quarterback on California's wonder team in 1922, has signed up to play in the East-West game in San Francisco on December 26. Erb will add piles to the strength of the team. Negotiations are also under way to get Ernest Tesreau and George Wilson of the University of Washington to participate in the Shriner's hospital benefit game.

COOK OUT OF GAME

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 8.—Bill Cook, quarterback of the University of Southern California football team will not be able to play against St. Mary's Saturday. He is still laid up with injuries sustained against Oregon last week. Cook is one of the most brilliant players in the Thundering Herd. At present the odds are even on the outcome of the conflict.

San Francisco—Tahoe Tavern on Lake Tahoe will be enlarged to accommodate 500 guests.

New Scholarship Is Announced For State University

A combined "brain and brawn" scholarship was announced by the Board of Regents of the University of California yesterday. Mrs. L. J. Muna is the founder of the new scholarship, which pays $400 a year. The student that receives it must not only show scholarship to a high degree, but must have been active in high school and college sports.

A committee of graduates, all of whom have been prominent in athletics will pass on the requirements of each applicant. Judge Everett Brown, Chaffee Hall of Oakland and Gurney Newlin and E. A. Dickson, are members of the committee.

Other scholarships announced at the meeting by President W. W. Campbell brings the total available each year up to $7,000. The Regents formally accepted gifts totaling $19,000. Ten volumes of Buddhist scriptures were received from the Queen Aunt of Siam, a morning newspaper subscription for all the patients of the University and Hahnemann hospitals from the Yellow Cab company and a bird-bath and other pottery from the Gladding-McLean & Co. are among the gifts approved.

BOB CALDWELL FIELD GENERAL OF 1926 TEAM

Robert "Bob" Caldwell, star guard of the 1925 unlimited football team of Richmond Union high school, was yesterday afternoon unanimously chosen captain of the 1926 squad by his team mates.

Caldwell is eminently fitted to fill the position of field general as he has just completed his second year at the game, knows football from A to Z and can be depended upon to carry out the wants of the power behind the throne, Coach Ivan Hill announced.

He is now a junior so will be playing his third and last season next year.

Captain Bill Milicevich, 1925 captain, was the first to congratulate his successor and wish him well. Caldwell merely responded with "we'll fight 'em next year," but this brief statement was enough to assure players that the team will go out next season determined to uphold the name of Richmond high school in the football world.

Bob Caldwell's popularity among the students of the school at large has been a foregone conclusion but it was demonstrated in the most obvious manner by the kicking he received yesterday from the men who fought with him toward the goal of success that was reached by the Richmond team during the past season.

Richmond High Boys Out for Cage Team

Leo Schreuder and Boyd Hocker, both have excellent chances of making the St. Mary's college basketball team. The boys got their experience when they went to Richmond Union high school not so many years ago, and are out to make a record on the cage court.

PULLMANS ARE WINNERS OVER MCCRACKEN FIVE

The McCracken quintet were noosed out of a tie for second place last night by the score of 21-28 to the Pullman squad. Although there was plenty of fumbling both teams played a wonderful game. The Pullmans showed a variety of pass work that was never seen before on the Junior high court. As usual Pete Daly did most of the basket work for the Pullmans, totaling 13 points. Gillan was the star for the Clothiers with 11 points. Muth was expected to give an exhibition of bucket shooting but it was plain from the start that he was in on condition for the game. Chattelet had the usual eye for fouls sinking three of them.

Pullmans—Daly and Kamb, forwards; Gadberr, center; Cornell and Tamm, guards.

McCracken—Gillan and Lee, forwards; Chattelet, center; Theisto and McLaughlin, guards; Muth and Huzefka, subs.

LOOSE GAME

In the second game of the evening the Standards No. 2 took loose and uninteresting game from Kearney-Furriers by a score of 18 to 14. The score was even most of the game, but the players seemed listless and wouldn't spring any action. Hutton was the only one who showed much life. Besides playing a good game on the floor, he looped in 9 of the Kearney-Furriers 14 points.

Following are the lineups and points scored by each man:

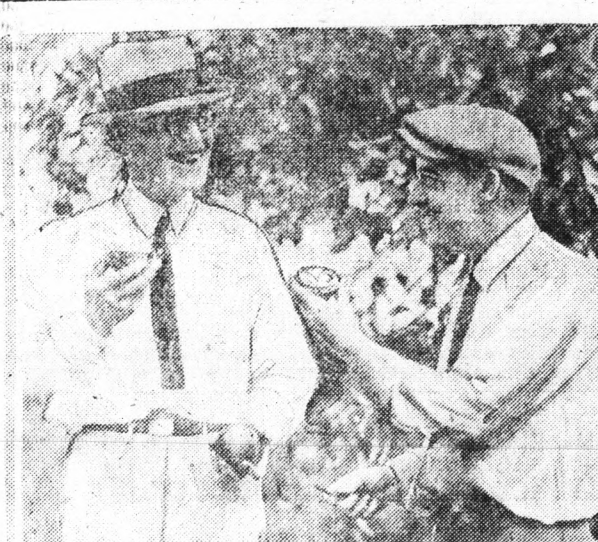

Standards—Tillotson, f., 3; Patchett, f., 0; Libby, f., 2; Francis, f., 0; Luckenbach, c., 2; Prolo, c., 6; Carson, g., 5; Navorini, g., 0.

Kearney-Furrier—Gerkin, f., 3; Mattier, f., 0; Hutton, c., 9; MacLanni, c., 0; Mino, g., 2; Mariola, g., 0.

LOCAL CAGERS WILL INVADE COUNTY SEAT

Today at four o'clock the Richmond, high school cagers will meet the Alhambra high school team at Martinez. Although Dyer and Milicevich will be absent from the line-up, Coach Hill is confident of annexing the scalps of the Alhambrians. Dyer is out of the line-up with a wrenched shoulder; Bill Milicevich is sick with a bad cold and Tony Santella, although he will start, is not in the best of health.

The 130's will lead off at four o'clock and immediately after that game the unlimited will start. Coach Hill will start the following men: Clark and Santella, forwards; O. Johnson, center; Barbieri and Gualdoni, guards.

Hill expects Clark to take the pace of Vernon Siple, who was crippled a day before the season opened. Clark is a steady player and has an eye for baskets.

OFFICER IS ATTACKED BY ENLISTED MAN

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 8.—Norman Barnes, a private attached to Fort Scott, is in the Presidio guardhouse accused of assaulting an officer, Lieutenant Colonel Arthur Owen Seaman who is victor in a battle—a battle won with the assistance of Mrs. Seaman who pitched in knocked her husband's assailant senseless with a poker—and an army probe is pending.

The battle took place in the Presidio at midnight, it was revealed today with the appointment of an army board of investigation. As evidence of Mrs. Seaman's prowess as a poker wielder Private Barnes carries a large gash in the side of his head.

Colonel and Mrs. Seaman were aroused at 3 o'clock in the morning. Peering through the window Seaman saw a man on the porch and believed him to be an officer who lost his way he opened the door. The man stepped in and dragged the officer onto the porch attired only in his night clothes.

While the private was attempting to land the officer's back over the rail, the lady of the house came up from behind and dealt her blow. Barnes has been charged with attempted burglary and assault with attempt to do great bodily harm.

Barnes said he mistook the officer for the company cook who "ought to be choked."

Hunger Given As Reason for Spying by Girl

volcanic little Marcel as their catspaw.

And because one of them, William Fisher, is said to have lost his heart to the model, all four concerned are now behind the bars.

The arrest of the girl came after Lionel Wiet was arrested in Versailles last week while posing as a naval officer. He incriminated Marcel—who is said to have formerly loved him.

Marcel attempted to escape from the Riviera and reach Paris while riding in her compartment on the Paris-Midi-Mediterranean express, she was discovered destroying a bottle of invisible ink, and a paper of notes which she had wrapped around a whale-bone in her corset.

RAY RADIO STORE
The other two Englishmen whom Marcel named are Oliver Phillips and James Leather, who with Fisher are charged with the same crime as Marcel—espionage.

A radio accessory store, which the men operated in Paris, today was closed and guarded up by the police. Officers made a thorough search in the place for incriminating evidence.

Phillips and Leather, it is reported, have admitted they are members of the British Intelligence Service, but protest that the aviation information they sought was for commercial purposes.

Dispatches from London this afternoon said that the three men are "of unimpeachable integrity" though both the foreign office and Scotland Yard wired they have received no advices of their arrests and do not officially know they are arrested.

The Paris police feel that Marcel is trying to shield her sweetheart, and say that when the police convince her she has been merely a tool, she will break down and reveal startling facts.

Jubilee Concert Proves Popular With Audience

The auditorium of the Roosevelt Junior high school was well filled last night for the Jubilee concert that was given by the choir of the Colored Baptist church of Oakland. The audience received the singers with enthusiasm.

Special mention should be given to Mrs. Sadie Thipps and Mrs. Thelma Johnson, who received an ovation for their vocal solos. The quality of the voices of both women was rich and elastic and delighted the audience.

Dr. E. E. Coleman pastor of the church gave a short address. Attorney John T. Drake, gave an enlightening and interesting account of the activities of the negro in this country.

T. E. Lawson, director of the choir deserves much credit for the splendid musical treat given last night.

on through the probation office alone during the past year, shows that contact has been had with some 1230 persons.

Of this number some 810 have been assisted financially. Some 300 have sought advice and counsel in the adjustment of their individual problems. Nearly one hundred cases have been handled in the juvenile court.

The families to whom some sort of service has been rendered are represented by the following classification: Italian 74; American 73; Portuguese 29; German 16; Mexican 13; Irish 8; Scotch 6; French 6; Jewish 3; Greek 3; Swedish 2; Armenian 2; Negro 2; Chinese 1; Indian 1; Polish 1; Chilean 1.

At the present time there are approximately 125 wards of the Juvenile Court under the supervision of the probation office. Of this number about seventy-five are in private and foster homes, the other in institutions.

The largest number of cases requiring attention are those of dependency caused by the death of the bread winner of the family.

Next to dependent cases, unfortunately speaking, come the cases of delinquency.

Aside from the death of the bread winner in the family, other contributing causes of this increasing dependency in the order in which they come according to the cases handled last year are, sickness, unemployment, incapacitation to work through accident or old age, commitment to county jail, tuberculosis, commitment to state hospital, commitment to San Quentin, etc.

The general cause of the prevailing delinquency on the part of the young may be our general laxity that everywhere expresses itself in our roadside type of life; our lurid movies; our sex obsession; the whirl of high-gear cars; the rise of cities; all lead to nervous instability and reckless daring. Young people today are compelled to take their moral or be labeled "flat tires." The pendulum is bound to swing back again. The helpfulness of Juvenile Court procedure is heartening. Those who have straightened up because of the helpfulness that bear bearings from the underworld has been meted out to them through the channels of this department of our social service work are legion; without this help they would have gone straight on in the direction in which they were going—to the dogs.

The petition that the Richmond Fire Department is circulating to place on the ballot a proposed law creating pensions for members of organized fire departments throughout the state, is being backed by numerous organizations and individuals of the city.

The firemen have been active and have been making speeches every day before gatherings of clubs and societies.

The Peres P. T. A. yesterday voted in favor of the petition, when they were addressed by Fireman Marvin and several members of the Lions club signed the petition.

Representatives will visit the Kiwanis club today, the Standard Oil company tomorrow and the Rotary club Friday.

Southern Pacific
Ordered to Lower Its Ferry Rates

judges said that it was within the province of the railroad commission to make the classification which it did and that its action in the matter is above legal criticism.

The decision is unappealable. It was originally planned by the commission to put the new rates into effect July 15, but after the hearing the date was changed to August 5.

The commission said that the basis for the cut was a reduction from $10,313,136 in the company's property valuation offered at the commission's hearing to a value of $693,764, fixed for the computation of the base rate. The reduction in valuations was based largely on land values and rested on the commission's decision that the Oakland water front on which both piers are built, is in fact occupied by the Southern Pacific and can be valued only according to the cost of its acquisition.

Attorney Is Accused In Fresno Case

payment of $2,000 to former Captain of Police Ben A. Wickstrom, he said:

"This money was for the old Chief of Police."

Later in his testimony, when he was describing his alleged final payments, Giometti said he told Wickstrom that this was his last payment to the old chief.

Giometti also flatly asserted on the stand that he had paid Lewis H. Smith $4,000.

Tomorrow the defense counsel will continue their cross-examination of Giometti, and will endeavor to bring out details of the case which Smith is alleged to have offered to "fix." If Giometti substantiates his testimony, further investigations will be made in Federal circles.

The surprise testimony was admitted only after a heated series of legal arguments between Albert K. Lucas, assistant United States attorney, and William E. Simpson, chief counsel for the twelve indicted police officials.

Judge Henning refused the defense request to strike from the record Giometti's testimony implicating former Detective Sergeant Oliver P. Durr.

Death of German Opera Singer is Deep Mystery

(By Universal Service)

BERLIN, Dec. 8.—"Unhappy love," it is believed put a tragic end to the career of Mme. Zinaida Jurjewskaja, one of the best liked and most talented singers of the Berlin state opera. Her body now lies buried beyond immediate recovery in the ice masses of the river Reuss, near Andernach, Switzerland, where her husband is vainly trying to find it.

The circumstances of Mme. Jurjewskaja's death have not yet been entirely cleared up; but according to latest reports, there is little doubt the beautiful singer, who was just beginning her career ended her life by her own hand.

She was last seen on Devil's bridge, which crosses the Reuss, here an empty bottle which had contained a powerful drug and a razor were discovered. It is be-

OUR SERVICE

LaPLACE, the great astronomer, died at the age of seventy-eight, and his last words were: "What we know is nothing; what we have to learn is immense."

This, in our opinion, is the only safe attitude for a conscientious merchant to take. We do not have the feeling that we know it all; and never assume the foolish and intenable position that we are wholly efficient in the distribution of food products. We take the position of humility and a feeling that we still have everything to learn, and yet a feeling of self-respect and of confidence in the knowledge that we are servants in a very great and worthy cause.—SERVICE TO MANKIND.

Back of the Christmas Joy is a Story of Heat

CHRISTMAS TIME and a big appetite. Good things ready for you—with their real flavor brought out by steady heat.

Whether heat is needed for baking spice-cakes, for warming the home, or for roasting the Christmas turkey—gas furnishes clean, healthful heat.

For over one hundred years the very essence of heat has been sent through concealed pipes to the exact place of combustion. This source of fuel has been found the most convenient. Yet, from time to time, the service has been improved. So now, when burned in modern equipment, gas is healthful, clean, and efficient.

Wherever gas is used, it means quick heat, far cleaner cities, and a constant delight to mankind.
